The Impact of COVID-19 on Logistics, Shipping and Ports: Singularity or New Normal?

(Joint Presentation by Jean-Paul Rodrigue and Theo Notteboom)

Jean-Paul Rodrigue

Professor, Hofstra University

Professional Experiences

Jean-Paul Rodrigue received a Ph.D. in Transport Geography from the Université de Montréal (1994) and has been a professor at Hofstra University since 1999. Dr. Rodrigue's research interests mainly cover the fields of transportation and economics as they relate to logistics and global freight distribution. Specific topics over which he has published extensively include maritime transport systems and logistics, global supply chains, gateways, and transport corridors. Dr. Rodrigue developed a widely used online reference source about transportation, which became a textbook, The Geography of Transport Systems, now in its fifth edition. He is a lead member of the PortEconomics.eu initiative regrouping the world's leading maritime transport academics and performs advisory and consulting assignments for international organizations and corporations. Between 2011 and 2016, Dr. Rodrigue sat on the World Economic Forum Global Agenda Council on the Future of Manufacturing. In 2013, the US Secretary of Transportation appointed Dr. Rodrigue to sit on the Advisory Board of the US Merchant Marine Academy at Kings Point, a position he held until 2018. In 2019, he was the recipient of the Edward L. Ullman Award for outstanding contribution to the field of transport geography by the Association of American Geographers.
