

Maritime Singapore's decarbonisation efforts

As the maritime industry seeks to decarbonise, ports and maritime centres will have a key role in supporting this transformation. Our ambitions for the sector must be supported by actions, and on its part, Singapore is actively pursuing decarbonisation through a range of initiatives and partnerships with ports around the world.